Study Title: Professional Sports Careers -
Rugby Players' Life Stories

Research Purpose:

Rugby is a unique game. Therefore it is surprising that no research has been undertaken to enquire about and utilise the great knowledge of retired ex-professional players, to gain a better understanding of what a professional career in rugby is like.

The research focuses on gaining a more holistic understanding of how retired players make sense of their playing career and beyond. It intends to offer insights about career paths and transitions that retired players encountered.

The research aims to generate knowledge for an academic audience, as well as for current and future generations of players.

Selection Criteria:

- Retired professional Rugby Union player.
Retired since around 2002.
- Played at Premiership and/or International level.
- Sex: Male.
